WORK ON 22 NEW WARSHIPS FOR U. S. NAVY STARTED

Work Ordered to Begin Hour After Bill is Signed By F. D. R.

Washington, June 12—(AP)—The navy announced today that work was ordered started on two new 45,000-ton battleships and 20 other warships and auxiliaries last night, within an hour after President Roosevelt signed the navy's $1,400,000,000 appropriation act.

The two battleships were assigned to the New York and Philadelphia navy yards, respectively, and the other vessels were divided between government and commercial yards. The contracts for nine warships assigned to commercial shipbuilding plants had been negotiated while final action on the appropriation was awaited.

The 22 ships will cost more than $327,000,000 to complete, it was estimated.

The speed with which the navy acted found the army counterpart in measures which were said to be designed both to strengthen defenses and furnish substantial assistance to the British and French allies.

93 Planes Available

A group of 93 airplanes and millions of dollars worth of munitions were being made available to the allies by the army under the government's "trade-in" plan of aid.

The 83 war planes, Northrop attack ships, were being concentrated at Houlton, Maine, on the Canadian border. The Douglas Aircraft Corporation of Burbank, Calif., successor to the Northrup Company, was reported to have agreed to accept them in payment on new planes to be delivered later to the army.

The concentration at Houlton was said to have been decided upon as the most direct way of getting the ships, which are six or seven years old, to the allies.

The White House reported that the army was turning its reserve manufacturing equipment over to private industry for the "immediate production of sizeable quantities of smokeless powder, ammunitions and small arms ammunition."

Munitions Traded

Previously it had been disclosed that $37,600,000 worth of surplus munitions had been tentatively traded in to the U. S. Steel Export Company, but which it would be resold.

The army's reserve manufacturing equipment was described by officials as having cost between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000. It was acquired in recent years as part of the war department's industrial mobilization plans and it will be used by a relatively small number of firms having allied munitions orders.

Their employment of this machinery, it was estimated, will speed up deliveries on the allied orders by two or three months while expanding the nation's capacity to produce munitions.

"Aid for the allies" passed from the slogan stage to a program of action today as Congress tackled the job of implementing Roosevelt's pledge with munitions for the men on the firing lines and money for hapless refugees.

Leaders on Capitol Hill resorted to legislative short cuts, working the provisions for assistance into the $5.021,619,622 sheaf of national preparedness bills now in the final clearance stages.

"Stop Hitler Now"

Extension of the European combat zone to blanket the entire Mediterranean was ordered by the President, ending American-born maritime commerce with Italy. Roosevelt gave fresh emphasis to his views by endorsing a "stop Hitler now" movement.

Both Senate and House responded yesterday to the call the chief executive sounded Monday at Charlottesville, Va., for material aid to the allies and an accelerated preparedness tempo.

The Senate voted 67 to 18 to empower him to "trade in" world war weapons—from rifles to field artillery—to manufacturers, who then would be free to re-sell them to the allies.

The authority was incorporated in a defense bill providing for unlimited expansion of the Army Air Corps, government construction or leasing of munitions plants, a presidential curb on the export of essential war materials, and voting $132,000,000 for preparedness expenditures at the chief executive's discretion.

The omnibus bill, most of which the House previously approved was returned to that chamber for concurrence in the arms "trade in" and some other amendments.

Confidence that this would be forthcoming was evidenced by the fact that the army already has tentatively turned over "surplus" munitions to the U. S. Steel Export Company.

Equal celerity of Senate action was expected on the request Roosevelt made yesterday for a

Plane Operations in Chicago Hampered by Light Fog This Morn

Chicago, June 12—(AP)—An American Airlines plane, carrying 20 passengers and a crew of three, overran a runway while landing at the Municipal airport early today and crashed through a wire fence. No one was injured.

The left section of the undercarriage of the airliner, inbound from Ft. Worth, Tex., and St. Louis, was damaged and one wheel was sheared off. Four automobiles parked outside the fence were damaged somewhat when the plane sideswiped them.

T. G. Williams, flight superintendent, reporting that Pilot D. C. Barrow of Chicago made a good landing, blamed the rain-glazed runway for the accident.

A light fog over the Chicago area this morning delayed air travel, principally incoming ships, about an hour. After the liner overran the field, incoming airplanes were advised to land at Joliet, Ill., South Bend, Ind., and Milwaukee, Wis., because of conditions here. Later they were signaled into Chicago.

The use of a special non-skid pavement is reported to enable motorists to improve automobile braking about 50 per cent.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

One is moved to wonder at times what the State did for its income before Prohibition was repealed and legal liquor gave to the State about $600,000 a year.

And, as we have expressed here before, we think the question should be decided just how much of an added strain alcoholic beverages will bear as a source of revenue without putting the bootlegger back into business.—Charlottesville, Va., Progress.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell to the

Anchors and Charts

In this shifting and shifty world it is hard to know what a man can cling to, and what new ideas he may be compelled to accept overnight.

We know that policies grounded in wishful thinking about the dear, dead past are no good. We know that the world is changing, and that we must almost daily adapt ourselves to new conditions. "Adapt or die," the old biology motto, is as true of today's political world as it is of the world of living things.

Yet there must be some things on which we will not yield, change or compromise. What is permanent and good, to be held fast as an anchor holds a ship at rest? What is changing and new, to be reappraised with every new development as a ship captain charts his course anew with changing weather, his eye always on the port of destination? These things we must think of, consciously and clearly.

The one thing which America will never abandon, on which we must base everything else as a tall building is raised on foundations of bed-rock, is this: never surrender freedom.

That is the point at which the people of the United States will fight if necessary, the point where their liberties are threatened, by a foreign military aggressor, by domestic borers-from-within, by any forces which propose to make the people less than free.

That does not mean that the people may not themselves impose on themselves disciplines made necessary by the times. But it must be their own discipline, prescribed by themselves in an orderly manner.

We will not allow a foreign soldier to set foot in the United States. We will not allow one to set foot in a place where he would have an undue advantage in a later effort to invade the United States. We will not allow foreign governments or systems to exercise decisive influences on our own conduct of our own affairs. We will not allow native leaders to fasten tyranny on us, a free people.

The means to these ends will vary, as the captain's course varies according to wind and weather. It is unwise to hold to traditional views, traditional means, traditional techniques. These will change, and must change in the new world that is shaping itself.

But our eyes must never for one moment leave the goal—a free people conducting its own affairs unshaken and undaunted, secure in the faith that government of the people, by the people, and for the people is right and good, and will stand when military tyrannies are fallen and forgotten.

Supreme Court and the Flag

Members of some religious sects seem to have created a tempest in a teapot by their refusal to salute the American flag. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that children can be required legally to salute the flag. There will be arguments on both sides of the question, but certainly nothing is wrong with the flag.

We are not versed in theology, but we fail to see any legitimate objection to a salute to the flag. We remember a quotation: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." It is hard to see how a salute to the flag is akin to bowing down to a graven image. We know intensely religious people who can and do salute the flag without violating their conscience.

We'd suggest that a person who refuses to salute the flag would also refuse to fight for it. He lives under its protection, takes advantage of all the rights and liberties it symbolizes and has a proportionate share in the conduct of government—but denies the flag a lifted hand or a bared head.

The best salute to the American flag of course, is spontaneous. It comes with a will. When it passes by we have memories of George Washington, Saratoga, Valley Forge, Benjamin Franklin, Old Ironsides; we remember the great crisis of the rebellion, in which that flag was preserved as a symbol of unity; we think of it as a deliverer of the oppressed Cubans from European tyranny, the force that drove a French puppet from Mexico, the guardian of a hemisphere and the symbol which Americans carried into battle in France to protect the American privilege of sailing the high seas on peaceful errands. We wave to our friends, tip our hats to the ladies, cheer at a football game, bow down in worship at church—and salute the flag reverently unless we are disloyal or cockeyed.

Time for Drill

Many firms throughout the country have granted time off with full pay to National Guard members called to take part in training activities.

This is a problem which is going to arise with increasing frequency as military preparations advance and maneuvers take place in various sections.

Unless or until some kind of universal service is adopted, the National Guard remains the principal source of mass training. The man who volunteers for this service offers his person, his time, and his energies to the work. He should not be penalized for that in relation to his regular civilian job. The employer must certainly co-operate as far as possible in sharing this burden.

No single arrangement could well be applied to every plant or establishment. But this burden is obviously one to be shared in as fair a way as can be devised between the volunteer and the employer.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited)

Washington, June 12—Unity is being quietly achieved to a working degree between the downtown news dealers and the non-new dealing Democratic leaders in Congress. It is a tentative, wholly business arrangement for national defense purposes only, and not a complete political reconciliation.

Congressional tax leaders Pat Harrison and Doughton, got wind a few days back of a downtown plan to seek another billion dollars' authorization for aviation defenses. They trooped down to the White House to counsel strongly against any such move at this time. Their argument was that the money could not be spent soon in view of limited facilities, and premature authorization might upset the government's financial program which has been put on a fairly firm footing by the heavy tax bill.

Roosevelt agreed to withhold the message for the time being.

Note—The incident is a convincing hint that the president's rearmament plans contemplate much greater efforts than have yet been disclosed.

Such estranged counselors as Senator Byrd of Virginia and Budget Director Smith have likewise been working on ways to put into effect Byrd's long-desired economy program for a 10 per cent horizontal cut in non-defense activities.

Surviving are two brothers, D. E. Hostetter of Los Angeles, Calif. and V. S. Hostetter of Tucson, Ariz., and one sister, Mrs. Charles Joiner of Polo.

Brief funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at Fairmount cemetery with the Rev. Clifford Pierson of the Presbyterian church officiating. Miss Hostetter had been a member of the Presbyterian church here.

BERT COFFMAN
(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, June 12—Arrangements were incomplete today for the funeral of Bert Coffman, 68, who passed away at 7 o'clock last night at his home here, 113 North Division street. Mr. Coffman, a retired farmer and resident of this city for a number of years, had been in poor health for sometime and became seriously ill Monday.

Funeral arrangements were awaiting the arrival of a daughter from Colorado. Surviving are the widow; five daughters, Mrs. Neva Gatz, Mrs. Mary Deuth and Mrs. Fern Pope, all of Polo, Mrs. Irma Oram of Boulder, Colo., and Miss Jean Coffman, a student at Beloit, Wis., college; a son, Carl Coffman of Polo; and a brother, Arch Coffman of Rockford.

Mr. Coffman was born near Polo Feb. 13, 1872 and was married in January, 1898 to Edith Hammer.

MISS ADELE HOSTETTER
(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, June 12—Miss Adele Hostetter, 73, formerly of Polo, passed away yesterday at the O. E. S. Sanitorium at Macomb, Ill. following a paralytic stroke.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hostetter and was born May 15, 1867 at Mansfield, O. She received her early education in Ohio schools where she majored in music. She studied and taught piano and organ music at the Julia Lois Corrington school of music in Chicago for a number of years and was organist for the Norse Avenue Congregational church of Chicago.

About 15 years ago she came to Polo to the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Joiner, and here she organized and founded music classes until failing health forced her to give up her work.

She went to the O. E. S. Sanitorium about a year ago.

Surviving are two brothers, D. E. Hostetter of Los Angeles, Calif. and V. S. Hostetter of Tucson, Ariz., and one sister, Mrs. Charles Joiner of Polo.

Brief funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at Fairmount cemetery with the Rev. Clifford Pierson of the Presbyterian church officiating. Miss Hostetter had been a member of the Presbyterian church here.

Funerals

Local—

WILL D. ANDERSON

The funeral of Will D. Anderson, former Dixonite, whose sudden death in Chicago Monday was announced in last evening's Telegraph, will be held at the Brinton Memorial Masonic temple here at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, instead of at the Preston funeral home, as had previously been planned. Dr. F. L. Blewfield of the Methodist church will officiate.

Mussolini's entry into the war surprised no one within a mile from the top. For some weeks in his dealings with Roosevelt he had made no secret of his intention to go in at the moment he thought allied defeat certain. It is hardly a disclosure to report that disgust here with the Duce's sordid purposes was practically unanimous.

Mussolini, like Hitler, while glorying in arms and the justice of his trumped-up cause, claimed he had been "forced" by the allies to take this just step. While the dictators profess not to believe in our ideals of justice and right, they somehow always go to the trouble of finding an excuse in accordance with our ideals to justify their actions.

A psychiatrist might have a good answer to that one.

The reformers may have slipped one past the congressmen in the tax bill. Heavy defense taxes were supposed to be laid for a five-year period to amortize expenditures, but when the bill came out, the LaFollette plan of reducing exemptions and increasing surtaxes was made permanent.

Only the additional 10 per cent surtax and the increases in excise taxes had a five-year expiration date.

LEADS MARCHES AT WHEATON

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Marth were in Wheaton on Monday, attending Commencement exercises at Wheaton college. Their niece, Miss Ruth Harstick of Richmond, Ind., was a member of the graduating class.

The Marths' daughter, Gladys, as vice president of the junior class, led the processional and recessional for the seniors. Miss Marth has been elected president of Philelethea, one of four literary societies for women on the Wheaton campus, and was recently elected to membership in Alpha chapter of Chi Sigma Theta, a professional educational society.

Membership in Chi Sigma Theta is based on Christian experience, superior scholarship, promise of teaching ability, and indication of future professional leadership. Miss Marth and her brother Paul, also a student at Wheaton, accompanied their parents to Dixon on Monday.

DIXIE GIRLS

Club manuals were distributed by the new leader, Miss Frances Gerdes, at yesterday's meeting of the Dixie Girls' 4-H club at the home of Ruth Marie Brown. Where Plane Conquered Tank

The German soldier need have no fear of this French tank, its treads askew, a gaping hole in its side. Nazi censored caption states it came out second best in battle with one of Hitler's vaunted dive bombers. French claim to have reversed situation on Somme front, destroying hundreds of Nazi tanks with cannon-firing planes.

Clouds of "La Guerre" Over North Sea Front

Not fleecy clouds of spring over a peaceful seaside landscape, but billows of battle's smoke somewhere on the Franco-German front. French censor's caption explains it simply—"La Guerre."

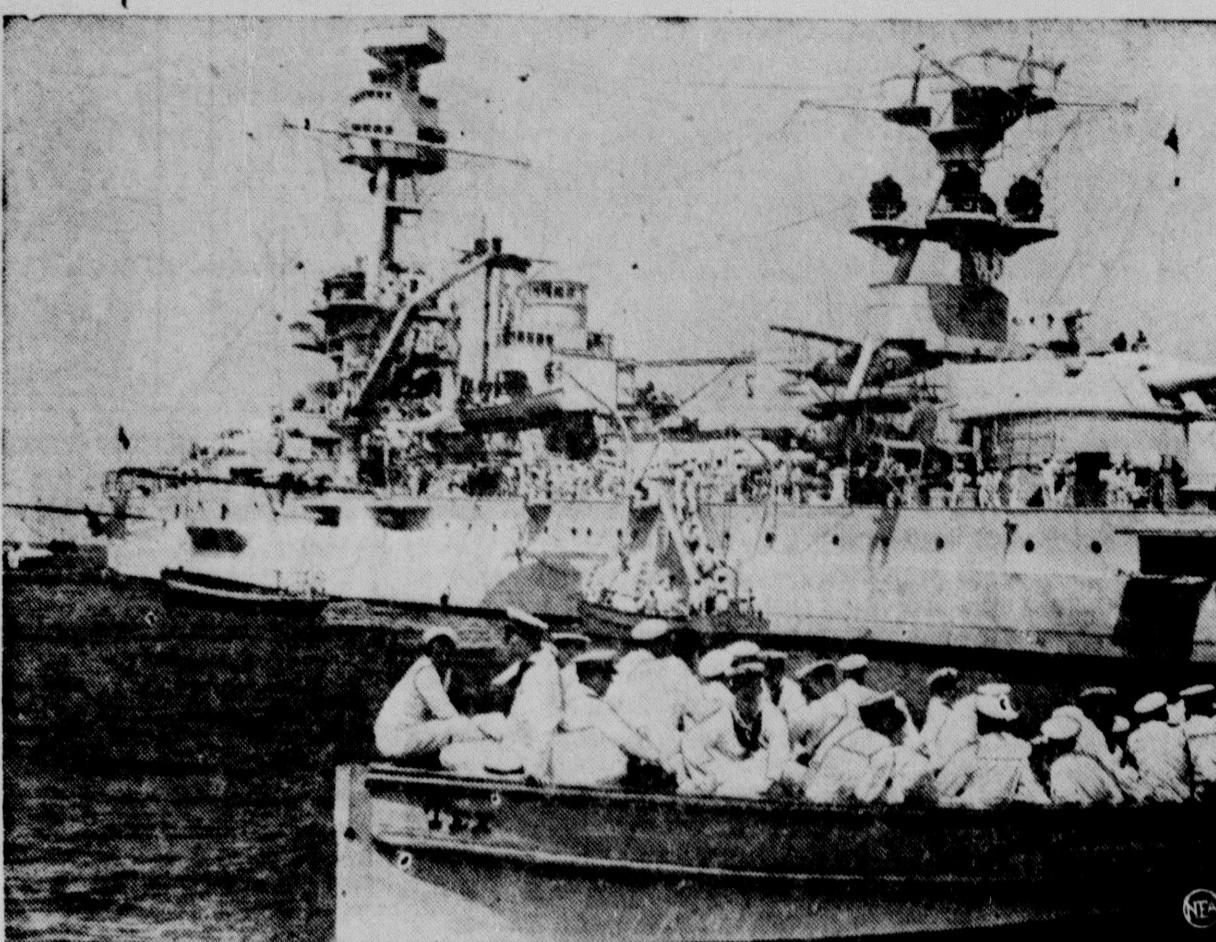

A Helping Hand

Lying on a stretcher on the quayside of an English port, after being carried out of the inferno of Flanders, one of the more severely wounded British soldiers is given a drink by a comrade.

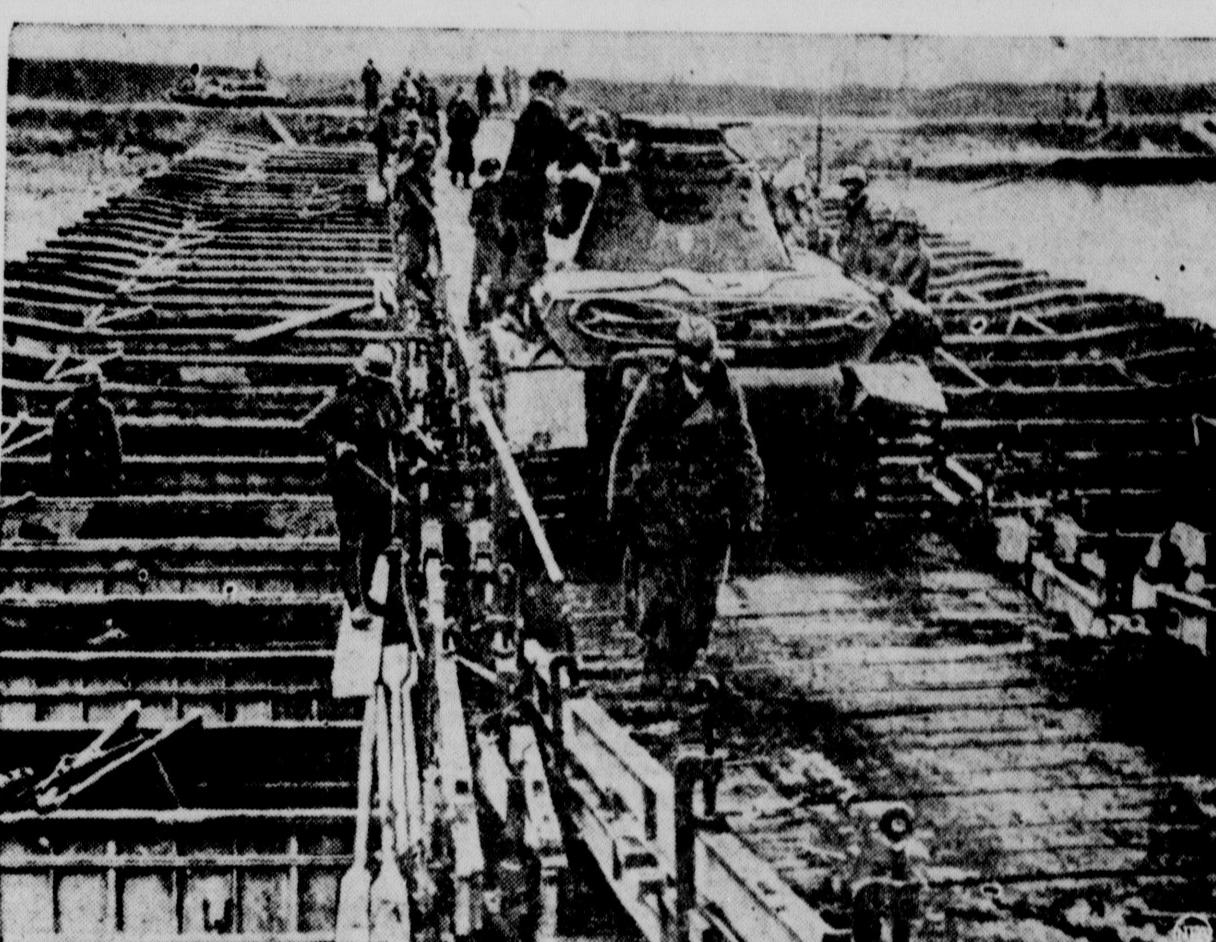

Happy was the homecoming of the B.E.F. troops rescued from the Flanders trap, despite the fact that many, like the two pictured above, stumbled ashore wounded and weary.

Anchors Aweigh

It was "all aboard" at Annapolis, Md., as the U.S. Naval Academy's midshipmen were taken on one of Uncle Sam's big battle-wagons for their annual summer cruise. With war barring them from their customary visit to European waters, they'll steam along Atlantic coastline, train with special vigor in light of American defense needs.

How Germans Crossed French Rivers

The way cleared for Hitler's engineer corps by hundreds of bombing planes, the Nazis hastily span a river with pontoon bridges, supported on the girders they carry with them. Advance of thousands of German tanks, like that above, was made possible by such tactics.

Chief U. S. Envoy To Reich Is Home

Quite a Feat

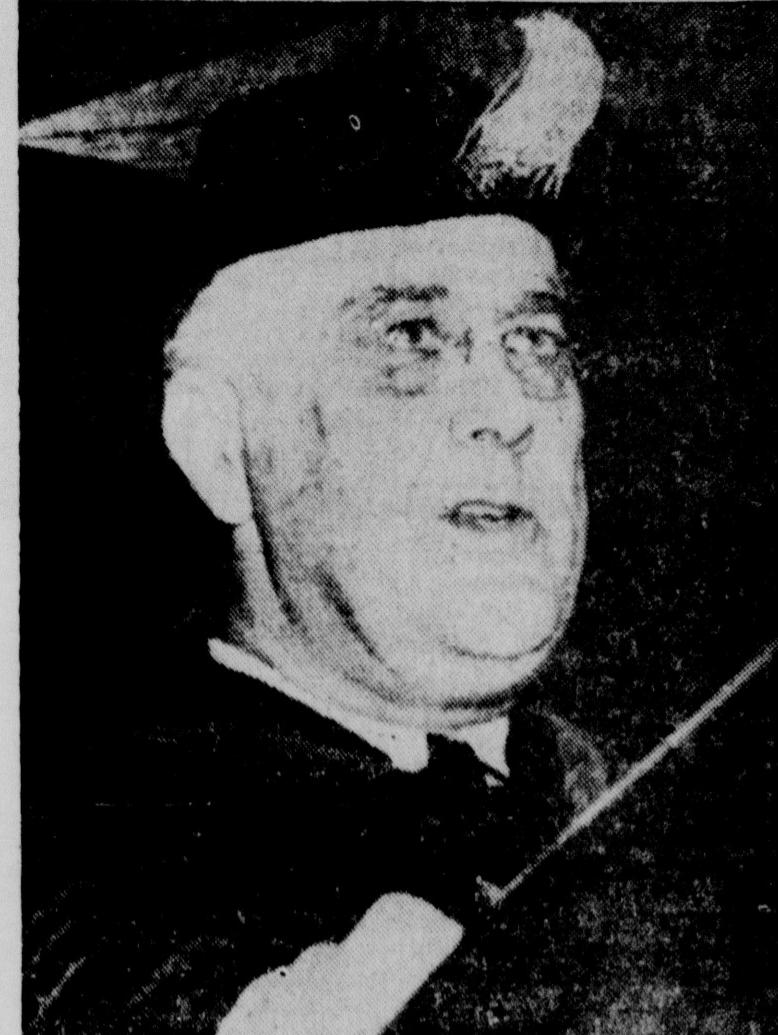

It's well known that the Marine Corps is no place for the effete. And when Recruiting Sergeant William F. Black, above, lands, "the situation is well in hand" — plus. Those size 12-F's he's displaying in his Philadelphia office, are the largest allowed in the Corps.

Ambulance Men Rehearse for War

First American volunteer ambulance drivers to be trained in this country before going to the front, 15 young men were given a three-day course at the French hospital in New York. Above, Instructor G. Ward Callum, right, of Greensboro, N. C., watches his fellow-townsmen Warren Brandy bandage the "injured" arm. Clyde Jensen, of Council Bluffs, Ia., is the "patient."

Berlin Hails Italy's Entry Into War

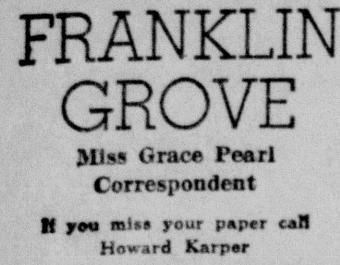

—NEA Telephoto

UNITED CIGAR TEAM LOSES

In a sea of mud the United Cigar softball team dropped the decision to the Forreston hosts last night, 12 to 11. Glenn did the chucking for the locals. The United, rained out of two league assignments here, are scheduled to meet Sparky's crew in the second game Friday night. In the one league game played thus far the United Cigar defeated the State Hospital 10 to 12.

TENNIS ACTIVITIES

Harold Peterson defeated Howard Quick in a challenge tennis match at the high school courts Monday afternoon with set scores of 6-2 and 6-2. The victory moves Peterson to No. 5 position among the members of the Dixon Tennis club. In first place is George Covert, No. 2 is Ward Smith, No. 3 Dick Joslyn, No. 4 Alan Wienman. The board with the standings of the club members is being prepared and will be erected at the courts during the weekend. The Dixon club will be host to Sterling here Sunday. In the doubles Monday afternoon Peterson and Quick defeated Charles Kearney and Ward Smith, 6-2, 6-2 and 7-5.

GAME IS POSTPONED

Due to a conflict of program arrangements, the scheduled game between the hardball teams of the V. F. W. and the State Hospital which was to have been played tomorrow night, has been postponed and may be played next week. However, the V. F. W. boys will use the colony diamond for practice tomorrow night at 5:30.

WHAT FISH ARE BEST TO EAT

By Charley Johnson

Walleyes make the best eating of any fresh-water fish, a large portion of the fishing fraternity agree. At least, no one can say truthfully that these fish do not have firm, sweet flesh, even if most of them do not possess the spectacular fighting qualities of a bass, muskie, or trout.

There are fishermen, however, who, though not belittling the walleye, will swear by other species as their choice for the table. The fellow who overcomes a bass on a flyrod will say he never ate a finer fish in his life. And he probably never did, since his appetite is enhanced by the pleasant memories surrounding its capture.

This same factor will apply to most other kinds of fish.

Respect Your Fish

The brook trout that you acquired only after battling your way through brush and bog, the three-pound rainbow in the big river that put your fishing ability to the supreme test, the muskie that you faithfully worked a week to get, the salmon you caught after a trip of a thousand miles or more—if you don't believe that fish is the best you ever tasted, then you should have spared its life and you should give up fishing.

Try This Experiment

As an experiment, we once took walleyes, small-mouth bass, and northern pike from our stringer, cut them in pieces of the same size, and fried them to a golden brown for shore lunch. The resulting confusion on the part of other fishermen in our party who ate them was humorous. They couldn't tell the fish apart!

Here's a tip for eliminating any strong taste that fish sometimes have, especially those caught in stagnated waters of August. In steaming, or in scaling the fish, throw away the thin strip of flesh under the belly. There is where any unsavory taste will be found, and it is not wasteful to discard it.

Among the fine fish foods we personally like are smoked lake trout, and an occasional mess of fried catfish, served with hot corn bread.

ATHERTON GIVEN NEW POWER IN PACIFIC COAST CIRCUIT

Sun Valley, Idaho, June 12—(AP)—Edwin N. Atherton, one time FBI agent, now commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference, was given new powers by faculty athletic representatives of the 10-member organization yesterday.

At the same time, the graduate managers rejected a proposal to eliminate spring football training.

The new setup gives Atherton complete power immediately in interpreting rules and making decisions in cases violating the code.

Members now satisfied with his ruling will have the right of appeal but such cases will be taken up by faculty men only at regular meetings—he held semi-annually.

The faculty group, however, remains as a court of last appeal.

Abandonment of spring football training was discussed by the graduate managers following agitation by coaches of other sports who claimed gridiron routine prevented them from having use of athletes.

DETROIT MAKES JUNIOR CIRCUIT A 4-WAY AFFAIR

Tigers Move to Second Place By Defeating Yankees, 6 to 1

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers are in the American League's fierce flag fight up to their necks today and show every sign of staying there. So it's time for everybody to admit that the struggle in the junior circuit is a four-way affair just as the equally bitter battle in the National League is at least a three-way race.

The Tigers squeezed into second place in their league yesterday by defeating the New York Yankees, 6-1, while the Boston Red Sox disposed of the threatening Cleveland Indians, 9-2.

The Tigers have been a strong club right along, never worse than third in the American League since the first week of the season. Yet they never have won more than four games in a row or been regarded as serious pennant contenders by either than their followers.

Good Reasons

There were good reasons. At the start of the season Charley Gehring was ailing and the whole infield was shaky. Nobody knew how the experiment of Hank Greenberg in the outfield would turn out. The pitching wasn't very promising and above everything else the Yankees, Red Sox and Indians all were considered better clubs.

Tommy Bridges never had his curve breaking any better than yesterday when he held the Yanks to five hits. He would have had a shutout except for an error by Rudy York. And his teammates gave him the help of 11 hits, including three home-runs.

The Red Sox defeated the Indians handsomely. They made seven hits off Bob Feller in five innings and gave him his fourth defeat of the season. Jack Wilson kept seven hits by the Indians scattered and had the help of the big bats of Joe Cronin and Ted Williams, each of whom hit home runs with men on base.

Buckley Walters Loses

Feller wasn't the only wonder pitcher to fall into a pit yesterday. Buckley Walters, who won nine games before he was beaten, was pounded upon by the Phils, 4-1, for his second straight setback. Boom Boom Beck held the usually rugged Red Sox to seven hits, two less than the Phils collected.

The defeat widened the distance between Cincinnati and the pace-making Brooklyn Dodgers, who were rained out.

Now all three are on the long, hard road known as the comeback trail. All three, as well as dozens of other ball players, will tell you few attain success once they have hit the skids.

But Rowe and Paul Dean have shown signs this season of making the grade all over again. What's in store for Diz, no one knows, especially since he dropped into the minors only last week to give his arm a thorough test as a sidebar pitcher.

Paul Dean Is 27

Paul Dean, now 27, gave the first hopeful sign that he isn't through yesterday when he pitched a 3 to 1 victory, allowing the Chicago Cubs only four hits in his first start of the season with the New York Giants' double triumph over the Chicago Cubs. While the Windy City still was talking about Brother Dizzy's withdrawal from the major league scene, Paul came up with a heart-stirring show for his first National League victory in two years, 3-2.

Cubs Are Shutout

His successful start followed close upon a five-hit shutout Bill Lohrman pitched to beat the Cubs, 4-0, in the first game. The twin killing lifted the Giants to a game and a half behind the Reds.

Vernon Kennedy, another battered veteran, landed rightside up as the St. Louis Browns again whipped the Washington Senators 5-2. Kennedy gave up nine hits, one more than Dutch Leonard, but permitted only one walk and was effective in the pinches.

The Chicago White Sox kept Washington from dropping to the cellar by edging out the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-4, in a night game. Pinch Hitter Julius Solters hit his first home-run of the year with one on in the ninth to decide the ball game.

Victim of Ailment

Rowe, also the victim of a mysterious arm ailment, won 19 games in 1936 for Detroit, but could win only one in 1937. After a bad start in 1938 he went to Beaumont of the Texas league where he won 16 games and lost nine. Returning last season, he won 10 for the Tigers and dropped 12. Now he looks something like his old self, having four victories and no losses so far this season.

The Faculty Group

Vernon Kennedy, Browns—Kept nine hits well spaced and allowed only one pass in beating Senators. Julius Solters, White Sox—Two-run pinch homer in ninth. Athletics 5-4.

Athletes

The first express superhighway in the United States will soon be opened. The road runs for 160 miles from Middlesex, near Harrisburg, to Irvin, near Pittsburgh. The highway contains seven tunnels.

Communist Party Must Get 25,000 Bonafide Signers

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—(AP)—The communist party attacked today in the state Supreme court a ruling barring them from the Illinois election ballot this year unless their candidates file petitions signed by 25,000 eligible voters.

The court action was directed against Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, who recently refused to accept convention nominating papers of 29 communist candidates for presidential electors. Hughes ruled on the advice of Attorney General John E. Cassidy that Earl Browder and all other communist candidates would be required to file nominating petitions signed by voters before their names would appear on the Nov. 5 election ballots.

William L. Patterson of Chicago a communist party member, asked the high court for permission to file a petition for mandamus to compel Hughes to accept the communist candidates nominated in a party convention at Chicago May 23.

Allege "Confusion"

The motion will be presented to the court tomorrow for consideration. It alleged that "confusion" exists in interpretation of the election law and that Hughes erred in refusing to recognize the communist candidates.

The motion was filed in Patterson's name by Attorneys Hart E. Baker and Max R. Naiman of Chicago.

Hughes' ruling after consultation with the attorney general had not previously been made public. Cassidy held the communists did not constitute a political party under Illinois law because their candidates failed to receive five per cent of the vote in the last general election. Consequently, he ruled, they must obtain petitions to re-establish their right to ballot recognition.

Representatives of Cassidy's office said the ruling applied to Browder, communist candidate for president, and any state candidates.

Charles Liebman, Chicago attorney for the Civil Liberties Committee, filed last week with the department of justice at Washington a complaint that communist party representatives had been chased out of several Illinois cities when they attempted to circulate election petitions.

Last on Ballot In 1932

Cities named in Liebman's complaint were Chicago, Rockford, Waukegan, Freeport and Pekin. Ten persons recently were threatened by a crowd at Pekin and given refuge in the county jail when they started to circulate communist petitions and literature.

The attorneys who conferred with state officials here said a communist state convention in Chicago selected a slate of candidates to run as presidential electors, and asked that their names be printed under the communist party label.

A full slate of communist state candidates last appeared on the Illinois ballot in 1932, when William Z. Foster, candidate for president, received 15,582 votes and W. W. O'Brien, candidate for governor, had 1,182 votes, out of a total of 3,465,000 ballots cast.

Officials in Secretary Hughes' office explained nominating petitions for Browder or for communist state candidates would require a minimum of 25,000 signatures of persons who did not participate in the April 9 primary. At least 200 of the signatures must come from each of 50 counties.

In 1936, the communist party filed petitions for state candidates but they were ruled out as invalid by three Supreme court justices sitting as the electoral board.

Two Non-County—

partment if the county would pay the expense of repair and heating the rooms in the winter months. The board voted unanimously concurring in the recommendation.

Hart Demands Action

As other matters of routine business were presented, Supervisor Leon Hart of Palmyra interrupted the session and asked that a second recommendation of the building committee be read to the board, which contained some reference to the old age assistance office in the court house.

"I know that such a recommendation was prepared and when I last saw it there were three signatures of the building committee attached," said Supervisor Hart, who added:

"I want this recommendation read to this board. In the first place the old age assistance office is in no way related to the Lee county government and in the second place it has no place in this building."

The recommendation was in effect the same as the one submitted by the building committee to remove the WPA agency from the court house by July 1st. Clerk Sterling Schrock after reading the recommendation added that but two names of the building committee appeared, stating that one had been erased.

Spencer for Diplomacy

Supervisor Spencer, a member of the committee told the board that he had not signed the recommendation. He favored diplomacy instead of force in removal of the old age assistance department and suggested that the state's attorney communicate with the proper state and federal authorities in taking action to transfer the old age assistance office to a new location.

At this juncture in the proceedings, the clerk called to the attention of the supervisors, a previous incident in which they were told that they were responsible for the departments being located in the court house in the first place. He also cited the fact that thousands of dollars are expended by the old age assistance department each year for rental of suitable office space. Referring to the recent disqualification of Mrs. Florence I. Shepard as Lee county superintendent of public welfare, Clerk Schrock told the board members that they had not been consulted in the manner of discharging Mrs. Shepard or in the selection of her successor.

Supervisor L. D. Hemenway of Alton asked that the minority recommendation of the building committee be voted upon by the entire board. Supervisor John Archer of Brooklyn township stated that he was willing to vote on the measure but believed that the method was crude, then asked:

Archer Asks Question

"Should this department fail to vacate this space by July 1st, what are we going to do, expect the sheriff to set them out in the street?"

Supervisor Milton Vaupel replied to this by stating:

"The old age assistance department is no different than the WPA."

Supervisor Hart further explained his sentiment on the subject by stating:

"I believe that the state of Illinois is putting something over on Lee county. While the law governing old age assistance provides for the renting of property for office purposes and thousands is expended each year for this purpose, no consideration has ever been given Lee county in remunerating the county for the expense entailed in providing offices in the county court house. I cannot agree that this board stand quietly by and see this thing go on and unless we do take some drastic action, those offices will continue to congest the necessary departments of the county one year from today."

Two Oppose Eviction

Discussion having closed, Chairman Risitter called for a vote on the recommendation which concerned the old age assistance department and but two voices were heard opposing its being vacated by July 1st.

Dr. David Murphy of the Lee county tuberculosis sanitarium board, appeared before the supervisors yesterday afternoon and outlined a program which would facilitate the campaign in the county in an economical and satisfactory way. Supervisor Spencer informed the board that George W. Smith of this city, director, had resigned. Dr. Murphy explained that a consultant advisor to the board would facilitate servicing the patients and would result in economies. He suggested the appointment of State's Attorney Edward Jones to serve in such a capacity, stating that the county prosecutor had for several

A resolution was unanimously adopted instructing County Clerk Schrock to submit to the voters of Lee county, a proposition to levy a county tuberculosis sanatorium tax from 1941 to 1950 inclusive as required by law. The amount to be raised for this period represented an estimated sum of $160,200 and the board voted to submit the action to the voters on a special ballot at the regular Nov. 5th general election.

The condition of the heating plant in the court house was the subject of some discussion after which the building committee was empowered to make necessary repairs.

Other Board Business

The board voted unanimously to rehire Dr. R. R. Dwyre to serve as county veterinarian as recommended by the special bovine committee, there being no change in the salary.

County aid was granted both Amboy and Bradford townships who had petitioned for this assistance in the construction of reinforced concrete box culverts on county highways.

Reports of the finance committee showed the following balances in various county funds: General fund, $18,834.99 with $13,739.08 in anticipation certificates, making a total of $32,574.07; county highway fund, $6,937.22; mother's pension fund; an overdraft of $3,105.57; blind pension fund, $4,971.42; tuberculosis sanatorium fund, $0.71; motor fuel tax fund, $17,566.02. All balances were reported as of June 1st, 1940.

A request for a new typewriter for use in the offices of County Judge Grover Gehant was referred to the purchasing committee with power to act. After naming the grand jurors and supplemental members for the September term of the Circuit court, the board adjourned until Tuesday, July 9th at 10 o'clock.

The War Today—

the Germans crashed the allied line up on the Somme and Aisne river early in the offensive. Strategically it is stronger, for the terrain makes it easier of defense.

Whether the Germans will be able to force their way into the beleaguered city depends on how much their stamina has been protracted by the fury of their protracted offensive.

They have the men and materials to turn the trick—but have they the reserve strength necessary? We shall have to wait and see.

If Weygand can hold not only Paris but his lines along the Marne and Seine rivers it may be the turning point of the war.

If the Germans exhaust themselves in this assault, their position will become decidedly uncomfortable, since Hitler is believed to have thrown into this drive virtually every ounce of strength he possesses.

Even the capture of Paris wouldn't mean success for the German führer, unless in the process he crushed the French armies. Berlin's desire to recognize this front is statement coming from an unauthorized source who declared that the capture of Paris isn't the primary object but that "the real purpose is to crush our foes' armies completely".

Obviously if Weygand had to give up Paris he could retire further south to new positions and continue the fight—provided he maintained his army intact.

The generalissimo has on his hands a far different strategical problem than had the allies in 1914 when they performed their "miracle" by throwing back the Kaiser's forces on the Marne. This time the Germans have a powerful right wing which is smashing at the allied forces from the coast along the Seine river.

Not only is Weygand in danger of having this left flank turned, but he must at all costs maintain the solidity of his right wing, which is anchored to the Maginot Line. Destruction of this anchor would threaten envelopment of the entire French army.

However, the fascistic end of the war has thus far been a bushy task. Not one bright light has been thrown on the mystery by the Italian high command's communiqué which announced that the British naval base of Malta in the Mediterranean had been bombed "with apparent results".

Despite this pressure, the French high command this morning announced that "the situation is without important change on the entire front".

I haven't mentioned the Italian operations earlier in this article, forsooth, there hasn't been much to say about them. After all the fanfare of the entrance into the conflict one naturally expected that the blue Mediterranean would be boiling this morning and that shells would be bouncing off the Rock of Gibraltar.

However, the fascistic end of the war has thus far been a bushy task. Not one bright light has been thrown on the mystery by the Italian high command's communiqué which announced that the British naval base of Malta in the Mediterranean had been bombed "with apparent results".

We shall get action in this southern war zone though, and soon enough. Indeed the British took the initiative yesterday and did extensive bombing of airfields in Italy's African territories.

The closure of the Suez canal to Italian shipping has immediately raised difficulties for Mussolini. He has depended on the canal to reach Ethiopia and his possessions on the Red sea.

One would expect heavy fighting to develop in this area. Not only must Mussolini keep this gateway open for his own uses, but he would be close to the British thereby forcing them to use the long sea route around Africa to reach the Far East. This would, of course, be a grave blow to England and the allied cause.

LOWEST BONDED DEBT

New York—(AP)—The National Municipal League reported that Danville, Ill., showed the lowest bonded indebtedness in 1939 for cities in the 30,000 to 50,000 population group. Danville's debt was listed at $389,225 while next to it was Arlington, Mass., with $81,763.
